

Statement from Naval Station Guantanamo Bay

07/29/15

The Department of Defense is aware of concerns about possible carcinogens around the DoD Military Commissions site located at Naval Station (NS) Guantanamo Bay. The health and well-being of all personnel living and working on NS Guantanamo Bay is important to us and we take any health concerns very seriously. Working together with the Navy Marine Corps Public Health Center and other environmental and health officials, Navy Region Southeast is looking into this to identify whatever steps may be necessary to address these concerns. We will keep everyone informed as we go along.